"Un país, Omarca, rodea el cuerpo imantado de un niño: William Pescador, quien a su vez circunda y explora ese territorio laberíntico, que se confunde y se precisa en los confines de una inteligencia temeraria. El niño es a la vez un demiurgo y un aventurero, cuya imaginación traza redes vertiginosas en el espacio, el tiempo, las genealogías, el mundo de los muertos, el ajedrez, los misterios banales e hipnóticos de la sexualidad, las guerras diminutas del hogar y la calle."--Page 4 of cover.

.cl Textos de frontera

Ediciones Era
This is a collection of fifteen essays which expose weaknesses in western epistemological frames of reference that for centuries have limited our views, and, thus, our experiences of animal being, including our own. The volume contributes to current discussions of new ways of seeing the other inhabitants of this world and more effective ways of sharing the world with them. The contributors draw on and complement the growing field of ecocriticism, but because the contributors draw on an array of disciplinary and cultural perspectives, it will appeal to a wide audience, ranging from literary scholars, philosophers, art historians, anthropologists, and cultural historians (including graduate and undergraduate students in all these disciplines), to laypersons interested in nature writing and environmental issues.  Se convocó a autores de distintas generaciones, estilos, lugares de origen y temáticas, a participar en una antología de textos inéditos, reflexionando literariamente en torno al tema de la frontera, de aquella frontera que los inquieta, que para cada cual es movimiento y fricción. Es así como cada autor resulta cartógrafo que recorre una frontera y esboza un mapa. Y estos mapas que proyectan también delimitan una cartografía de las relaciones de poder y dependencia, de los paisajes extremos, de la memoria de la violencia política, de las postergaciones, de reivindicaciones que aún esperan.

El príncipe mexicano

El autor, reconocido universalmente por su obra en prosa, siempre cultivó la poesía, pero nunca logró publicar su obra poética mientras vivió. Sólo cinco años después de su muerte, su viuda y un amigo publicaron una antología de sus poemas en la ciudad de San Francisco, en los Estados Unidos, en 1962. Precisamente ésta es la edición que sirve de base a la edición bilingüe que ahora está a disposición de los lectores de lengua española. Esta obra recoge creaciones elaboradas por su autor en el transcurso de toda su vida, incluyendo un conjunto de poemas realizados durante su residencia en México, en los cuales el lector atento podrá reconocer fácilmente la misma fuerza cautivadora que es posible encontrar en Bajo el volcán.

"Salvador Novo

(1904-1974) es uno de los escritores más complejos y contradictorios del siglo XX en el mundo de habla hispana. Prosista admirable, gran cronista, poeta de obra breve y perdurable, director de teatro y dramaturgo, experto en gastronomía, es, entre otras cosas, uno de los testigos principales del auge de la burguesía mexicana luego del gobierno de Lázaro Cárdenas. Esta brillante crónica biográfica de Novo escrita por Carlos Monsiváis permite a los lectores un acercamiento muy documentado a una figura excepcional en su valentía personal y literaria y en su transformación del cinismo y el descaro en defensa inteligente de su derecho a la diferencia."--

Ocho cuentos breves, envolventes, cautivantes

de principio a fin, se reúnen en este volumen reflejando estados anímicos, reflexionando sobre los miedos, ansiedades, pasiones; la desilusión se cuele como un mal venéreo, atraviesa dolorosamente las páginas, esas páginas tan llenas de presencia humana, tan perfumadas a México, el hermoso, irreflexivo, alborotado y profundo México. La droga, el amor, la soledad, el engaño, perros, alcachofas que se muerden en un rito sensual que aliviana el sufrimiento de las vidas mal vividas, son tantas las imágenes, tantos los sonidos, los personajes que huelen y respiran como si uno pudiese tomarlos, extraerlos ya con cuerpo de nervio y sangre y huesos, desde las letras, palabras y frases de cada una de las ocho historias.

La verdadera historia del laberinto Ediciones Era

Se trata de una serie compuesta por quince ensayos que analizan la obra literaria de trece autores iberoamericanos, también algunos otros europeos, que han marcado con su profunda influencia en el estilo creativo de este escritor mexicano. El libro se estructura en dos movimientos y un interludio. El primero nos habla de figuras tan reconocidas como Juan Rulfo, Augusto Monterroso, Roberto Arlt, Sergio Pitó, Valle-Inclán y Carlos Fuentes. Se repasa en la segunda parte la literatura de Arthur Schnitzler, Vladímir Nabokov, Italo Calvino, Burroughs y Bernhard. Se denuncia, además, el tratamiento folclórico y marcadamente tropical con que Europa se refiere a la identidad cultural de América Latina. Esta colección presenta, no obstante, un carácter bien subjetivo y, también, apasionado de su autor; quien en todo momento sugiere la invitación al lector para que éste también lea y disfrute con igual entusiasmo de las obras que terminaron por marcarlo a él. Nocturno en que todo se oye Ediciones Era Since her death in 2011, the legendary Surrealist Leonora Carrington has been reconstructed and reinvented many times over. In this book, Gabriel Weisz Carrington draws on remembered conversations and events to demythologise his mother, revealing the woman and the artist behind the iconic persona. He travels between Leonora's native England and adopted homeland of Mexico, making stops in New York and Paris and meeting some of the remarkable figures she associated with, from Max

Ernst and André Breton to Remedios Varo and Alejandro Jodorowsky. At the same time, he strives to depict a complex and very real Surrealist creator, exploring Leonora not simply in relation to her romantic partners or social milieus but as the artist she always was. A textured portrait emerges from conversations, memories, stories and Leonora's engagement with the books that she read. Using the act of writing to process and understand the death of his mother, the author has produced a moving and fascinating account of life, art, love and loss.

Remedios Varo

Ediciones Era

This volume examines the relationship between occultism and Surrealism, specifically exploring the reception and appropriation of occult thought, motifs, tropes and techniques by Surrealist artists and writers in Europe and the Americas, from the 1920s through the 1960s. Its central focus is the specific use of occultism as a site of political and social resistance, ideological contestation, subversion and revolution. Additional focus is placed on the ways occultism was implicated in Surrealist discourses on identity, gender, sexuality, utopianism and radicalism.

Artistas

Latinoamericanas

Ediciones Era

While the reputation of Remedios Varo (1908-63) the surrealist painter is now well established, Remedios Varo the writer has yet to be fully discovered. Her writings, which were never published during her life let alone translated into English, present something of a missing chapter and offer the same qualities to be found in her visual work: an engagement with mysticism and magic, a breakdown of the border between the everyday and the marvelous, a love of mischief and an ongoing meditation on the need for (and the trauma of) escape in all its forms. This volume brings together the painter's collected writings and includes an unpublished interview, letters to friends and acquaintances (as well as to people unknown), dream accounts, notes for unrealized projects, a project for a theater piece, whimsical recipes for controlled dreaming, exercises in surrealist automatic writing and prose poem commentaries on her paintings. It also includes her longest manuscript, the pseudoscientific, De Homo Rodans, an absurdist study of the wheeled predecessor to Homo sapiens (the skeleton of which Varo had built out of chicken bones). Ostensibly written by the invented anthropologist Hällickio von Fuhrängschmidt, Varo's text utilizes eccentric Latin and a tongue-in-cheek pompous discourse to explain the origins of the first umbrella and in what ways Myths are merely corrupted Myrtles.

La nacionalidad y el espíritu mexicanos tienen su origen en la compleja interrelación o yuxtaposición del influjo indígena y los elementos de la cultura europea modificados al enraizarse en el nuevo continente. Fernando Benítez describe con amenidad, sin recurrir a la erudición aparatosa, pero con penetración y hondura, el desajuste social y político de aquel primer siglo de la vida colonial de la Nueva España.

Sergio Pitol Manchester University Press
La presente publicación recoge las reflexiones desarrolladas durante el curso «Las vanguardias artísticas a la luz del esoterismo y la espiritualidad» (incluido en el programa Els Juliols de la UB, 2014) y propone, desde distintas perspectivas como la historia del arte, el pensamiento, la creación y la poesía, una aproximación a las estrechas y fecundas relaciones entre las vanguardias artísticas y una dimensión mágica y sagrada de la realidad. En un contexto histórico y cultural marcado por las dos guerras mundiales, algunos artistas se nutren de la espiritualidad y el esoterismo en su práctica creativa. El arte se funde con la vida en cada una de las propuestas que configuran el recorrido de este libro, mostrando tanto la necesidad que sienten los artistas de experimentar nuevos modos de acercarse a la cotidianidad como la voluntad de transformar la sociedad en la que viven.

Art, Borders and Belonging: On Home and Migration investigates how three associated concepts—house, home and homeland—are represented in contemporary global art. The volume brings together essays which explore the conditions of global migration as a process that is always both about departures and homecomings, indeed, home-makings, through which the construction of migratory narratives are made possible. Although centrally concerned with how recent and contemporary works of art can materialize the migratory experience of movement and (re)settlement, the contributions to this book also explore how curating and exhibition practices, at both local and global levels, can extend and challenge conventional narratives of art, borders and belonging. A growing number of artists migrate; some for better job opportunities and for the experience of different cultures, others not by choice but as a consequence of forced displacement caused economic or environmental collapse, or by political, religious or military destabilization. In recent years, the theme of migration has emerged as a dominant subject in art and curatorial practices. Art, Borders and Belonging thus seeks to explore how the migratory experience is generated and displayed through the lens of contemporary art. In considering the extent to which the visual arts are intertwined with real life events, this text acts as a vehicle of knowledge transfer of cultural perspectives and enhances the importance of understanding artistic interventions in relation to home, migration and belonging.

A Laboratory of Her Own gathers diverse voices to address women's interaction with STEM fields in the context of Spanish cultural production. This volume focuses on the many ways the arts and humanities provide avenues for deepening the conversation about how women have been involved in, excluded from, and represented within the scientific realm. While women's historic exclusion from STEM fields has been receiving increased scrutiny worldwide, women within the Spanish context have been perhaps even more peripheral given the complex sociocultural structures emanating from gender norms and political ideologies dominant in nineteenth- and twentieth-century Spain. Nonetheless, Spanish female cultural producers have long been engaged with science and technology, as expressed in literature, art, film, and other genres. Spanish arts and letters offer diverse representations of the relationships between women, gender, sexuality, race, and STEM fields. A Laboratory of Her Own studies representations of a diverse range of Spanish women and scientific cultural products from the late nineteenth through the twenty-first centuries. STEM topics include the environment, biodiversity, temporal and spatial theories, medicine and reproductive rights, neuroscience, robotics, artificial intelligence, and quantum physics. These scientific themes and other issues are analyzed in narratives, paintings, poetry, photographs, science fiction, medical literature, translation, newswriting, film, and other forms.
