A Novel/ Mnamon

Marian called it Roxaboxen. (She always knew the name of everything.) There across the road, it looked like any rocky hill -- nothing but sand and rocks, some old wooden boxes, cactus and greasewood and thorny ocotillo -- but it was a special place: a sparkling world of jeweled homes, streets edged with the whitest stones, and two ice cream shops. Come with us there, where all you need to gallop fast and free is a long stick and a soaring imagination. In glowing desert hues, artist Barbara Cooney has caught the magic of Alice McLerran's treasured land of Roxaboxen -- a place that really was, and, once you've been there, always is.

The Puppet Boy of Warsaw Weidenfeld & Nicolson

Auschwitz è il luogo, simbolico e materiale, in cui si compie l'ultimo atto della modernità europea. Auschwitz, in questo senso, divide la storia in un «prima» e un

«dopo» tra cui non c'è più nessuna comunicazione, dando vita a una vera e propria frattura che mette fine ai miti e alle illusioni di quella stessa modernità. Ad Auschwitz la parabola gloriosa inaugurata dall'Uomo vitruviano di Leonardo collassa, sostituita dal suo doppio speculare e negativo: quel Muselman in cui Primo Levi identifica l'emblema di «tutto il male del nostro tempo» e che abita l'anticiviltà del genocidio. Le testimonianze italiane della Shoah, per la prima volta studiate nel loro insieme, esibiscono e raffigurano proprio i contorni e gli abissi di questa civiltà capovolta e dimostrano come la profonda cesura storica, culturale e antropologica di Auschwitz, ben lungi dall'essere una costruzione teoretica posteriore, sia già presente in nuce nei racconti dei superstiti. Attraverso la mise en abîme dei testi fondativi dell'etica giudaicocristiana (la Torah, il Nuovo Testamento e la Commedia dantesca), la koinè mortifera di Auschwitz dà vita all'«antinarrazione delle camere a gas» che ribalta, frantumandola, l'integralità delle grandi narrazioni del passato. Con il conseguente naufragio, come per l'imbarcazione dell'Ulisse dantesco rivisitato da Levi, dei principi dell'umanesimo occidentale.

Survival In Auschwitz Random House
New edition with foreword by Nobel Peace Prize winner Desmond Tutu: "How extraordinary that this humble suitcase has enabled children all over the world to learn through Hana's story the terrible history of what happened and that it continues to urge them to heed the warnings of history." In the spring of 2000, Fumiko Ishioka, the curator of a small Holocaust education centre for children in Tokyo, received a very special shipment for an exhibit she was planning. She had asked the curators at the Auschwitz museum if she could borrow some artifacts connected to the experience of children at the camp. Among the items she received was an empty suitcase. From the moment she saw it, Fumiko was captivated by the writing on the outside that identified its owner – Hana Brady, May 16, 1931, Waisenkind (the German word for orphan). Children visiting the centre were full of questions. Who was Hana Brady? Where did she come from? What was she like? How did Hana become an orphan? What happened to her? Fueled by the children's curiosity and her own need to know, Fumiko began a year of detective work, scouring the world for clues to the story of Hana Brady. Writer Karen Levine follows Fumiko in her search through history, from present-day Japan, Europe and North America back to 1938 Czechoslovakia and the young Hana Brady, a fun-loving child with a passion for ice skating. Together with Fumiko, we learn of Hana's loving parents and older brother, George, and discover how the family's happy life in a small town was turned upside down by the invasion of the Nazis. Based on an award-winning CBC documentary, Hana's Suitcase takes the reader on an incredible journey full of mystery and memories, which come to life through the perspectives of Fumiko, Hana and later Hana's brother, who now lives in Canada. Photographs and original wartime documents enhance this extraordinary story that bridges cultures, generations and time. Ideal for young readers aged 9 and up. Hana's Suitcase is part of the award-winning Holocaust Remembrance Series for Young Readers.

"A wonderful gift book to help children understand the importance of respect for the environment starting with Greta Thunberg's trip. The book tells the journey of the young Swedish activist, who has become a symbol of the mobilization of boys and girls around the world around the serious issue of climate change, to reach New York and attend the UN summit on climate issues. The crossing of the Atlantic, departing from Plymouth, took place on the yacht owned by Pierre Casiraghi, son of Carolina of Monaco and the offshore champion Stefano Casiraghi, who accepted the invitation of the little warrior Greta, offering to accompany her to America on a journey with a very low environmental impact. Through the poetic illustrations by Maddalena Gerli, the book tells the story from the point of view of the family of the protagonist, Captain Papaia, Pierre Casiraghi's alter ego: the father talks to his two little children, who complain that he will be absent from home for some time, explaining to them the value of his journey and the importance of the issue of climate change, which directly affects us all."

The testimonies of six survivors of the Holocaust are presented in comics form, aimed at teenage readers. Some of them were children then, and are still alive to tell what happened to them and their families. How they survived. What they lost--and how you keep on living, despite it all. Jessica Bab Bonde has, based on survivor's stories, written an important book. Peter Bergting's art makes the book accessible, despite its difficult subject. Using first-person point of view allows the stories to get under your skin as survivors describe their persecutions in the Ghetto, the de-humanization and the starvation in the concentration camps, and the industrial-scale mass murder taking place in the extermination camps. When right-wing extremism and antisemitism are being evoked once again, it's the alarm-bell needed to remind us never to forget the horrors of the Holocaust.

The Auschwitz Poems University of Chicago Press

How does one broach with a child or young adult a subject like the Holocaust, the full magnitude and horror of which are difficult even for many adults to comprehend? This book, in conversational format, offers an ideal way to present this difficult subject to a young audience. At the book's opening, the author and her daughter Mathilde meet Berthe, a friend of the author's, on the beach, where they see the number that was tattooed on Berthe's arm at Auschwitz. The book, following Wieviorka's answers to her daughter's nearly eighty questions, provides a concise yet unsentimental and unsparing history lesson that explains Hitler's rise to power and the rise of anti-Semitism, the creation of ghettos and concentration camps (not only Auschwitz), the genocide of the Jews, the "Final Solution," Jewish and other resistance, and the guilt of the Germans.

The dramatic story of neighbors in a small Danish fishing village who, during the Holocaust, shelter a Jewish family waiting to be ferried to safety in Sweden. It is 1943 in Nazi-occupied Denmark. Anett and her parents are hiding a Jewish woman and her son, Carl, in their cellar until a fishing boat can take them across the sound to neutral Sweden. The soldiers patrolling their street are growing suspicious, so Carl and his mama must make their way to the harbor despite a cloudy sky with no moon to guide them.

Worried about their safety, Anett devises a clever and unusual plan for their safe passage to the harbor. Based on a true story.
