If you want to sculpt into existence a great life doing what you love, then the answers to these questions will be your hammer and chisel... Uncertainty. That's the word that plagues our generation. With sky-high tuitions and unemployment rates, the idea of a life-long job thrown out the window, and a sea of new opportunities available on the internet, we find that the 'life' game has changed, and we no longer have a blueprint for life or success. The worst part is that we hide this uncertainty in the back of our heads and avoid it in fear we won't have the answers we need to face it. An Unorthodox Solution Throughout the past year, I've helped thousands of people find out more about themselves and their path in life through my coaching and books. More often than I'd like to admit, I would say that the average person probably never needed my coaching to begin with, as most had the answers inside of them the whole time. "Perhaps all people need is someone to ask them the right questions, and some courage to answer them", I thought. A 3 in 1 Book Bundle That's when I decided to put this book together. Self-Discovery Questions: Find Yourself and Your Life's Path in 5 Minutes a Day is a compilation of the best material (questions, prompts, and exercises) I've published for self-awareness, finding your purpose, and developing a direction in life. Book 1: Best-selling Self Discovery Journal: Find Who You Are and What You Want in All Areas of Life. In this book, you will: Discover what an abandoned, mentally-challenged boy taught me about letting go of the past. Apply secrets techniques used by life coaches to create a healthy sense of identity, even if you suffer from anxiety, depression, or low self-esteem. Elaborate on questions designed to help you and master every area of your life. Book 2: Inspirational Find Your Passion: The Ultimate Workbook. In this book, you will: Discover techniques celebrities like Oprah use to make sure they're living with passion and purpose. Discover the secrets success psychologists know (but mainstream won't tell you) for self-knowledge and self-mastery. Use an unorthodox but simple way to find your passion and discover the legacy you want to leave behind (Hint: It's not a vocational career test). Book 3: Thought-provoking Coaching Questions: 200 Breakthrough Questions for Career and Business Mastery. In this book, you will: Apply principles from an old self-help book to think big and grow your career or business likewise. Discover a tailored-for-you approach (that no one talks about) for creating the perfect work-life balance. Discover the types of questions that successful entrepreneurs and CEOs ask themselves that the average worker doesn't. These books carry the questions that will bring to surface the answers that you need. No boring moments- just thought-provoking questions and prompts to bring out life-changing answers. The Bible starts with a bang. In the first few chapters it addresses life's most important questions. What is God like? Why am I here? How did it all begin? Where is it all going? This practical study provides: an overview of Genesis and its themes; everyday applications of the truths of Genesis; insightful explanations of creation, the origin of evil, and God's rescue plan; helpful answers to frequently asked questions; open-ended questions for group discussion or individual study. Genesis includes some of the Bible's most fascinating stories, colorful characters, and dramatic narratives. But more than that, Genesis also provides God's answers to life's ultimate questions. A bestselling modern classic—both poignant and funny—about a boy with autism who sets out to solve the murder of a neighbor's dog and discovers unexpected truths about himself and the world. Nominated as one of America's best-loved novels by PBS's The Great American Read Christopher John Francis Boone knows all the countries of the world and their capitals and every prime number up to 7,057. He relates well to animals but has no understanding of human emotions. He cannot stand to be touched. And he detests the color yellow. This improbable story of Christopher's quest to investigate the suspicious death of a neighborhood dog makes for one of the most captivating, unusual, and widely heralded novels in recent years.

What would happen if you had a child and left him or her unattended without care or attention for a day? How about a couple of weeks? Even worse, how about several months or years? I know, it's almost too cruel to think about. As kids, we're in full connection with the child inside of us. We run, we play, we chase after things that we enjoy and love. We may not realize it, but we're deeply connected to who we are and what we want. As we grow older, however, we lose this connection and leave ourselves unattended for much too long. We are introduced to words, and words have narrow meanings. Time and time again we've been labeled by our peers and parents through the use of these words. This has happened for so long that we act as if we're programmed to follow them. In short, we lose sight of who we really are and what we really want. This book serves as an invitation to a journey of self-discovery. My aim is that my readers will be able to: Disassociate from labels others have placed on them that are hindering their journey of self-exploration. Stop reliving negative karmic cycles and disassociate from past experiences. Learn about their personal VITALS and preferences in the human hierarchy of needs. Find who they are and what they want in every area of their lives through 200 carefully designed questions. Finally, reconnect with themselves and strengthen their sense of self. Welcome to Self Discovery Journal.
